To whom it may concern,

RE: Recommendation Letter

It is with great pleasure that I find myself writing this letter of recommendation for Stephen Pessenbacher. Stephen Pessenbacher is an outstanding colleague who daily goes "above and beyond" in his operational support and continuously exceeds the performance standards in providing legal advisory/reviewal services to the band.

Stephen Pessenbacher willingly accepts new assignments and offers to help wherever he can. Legal advice is a frantic environment that presents many challenges for the normal person in the street.

Stephen Pessenbacher remains steadfast in his cheerfulness, calmness, and dependability. He is an extraordinary person and a vital member of our family. Stephen Pessenbacher has demonstrated excellent perceptual and decision making skills. He is attentive to tasks and works tirelessly to achieve the goals of the individual, and organisation. He is an extremely positive and dependable person who assists in an extremely timely and conscientious manner.

Stephen is an innovative self-starter who is punctual and typically exceeds expectations. He handles pressure well and will voluntarily work overtime to meet a deadline. Stephen is an invaluable asset and I highly recommend him.

If you would like to discuss his attributes in more detail, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Ganief Nell

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

15 May 2017

I address you in my capacity as the Magistrate Court Practice and Professional Legal Ethics lecturer at the School for Legal Practice, Cape Town, South Africa.

I confirm that Mr Stephen Gideon Pessenbacher is currently a student at the School during the period from January to July 2017. I can attest from his record at the School that he is duly compliant with the attendance and academic requirements.

The School for Legal Practice provides focussed practical legal training, which enhances the academic qualifications of our students and it thus puts our students in very capable positions to assume their proposed careers in the legal profession. The attendance at the School is equated with one year work experience / "articles".

I have no doubt that Mr Pessenbacher's academic qualification together with his attendance at the School, has given him a sound knowledge of not only the law, but in fact the practice of law.

I am able to attest to his good character and that he is someone who most certainly has the principles and integrity to be a productive, competitive and outstanding candidate for the profession at large.

Yours sincerely

MR IAN YUILL
