Hail the reader,

TESTIMONIAL: TREVOR BENJAMIN HENWOOD

Mr Trevor Benjamin Henwood (Student Number 2815980) is currently an LLB student at the University of the Western Cape. I came to know him during 2011 when he was a student in my Labour Law 321 course. He was also enrolled in my elective in Competition Law, for which he attained a mark of 68%, which I regard as an indication that a student has a firm grasp of the particular aspect of law. It is without any reservation that I am writing this testimonial in his favour.

As a student, Mr Henwood's academic record does him some injustice, as it belies his true intelligence and passion for the field of law. It must be noted, in his favour, that less than a quarter of South African students pass their degrees within the allotted time, and that the number goes down even more for professional degrees. In my modules, he was a surprisingly active class participant, often asking insightful questions, and unafraid to answer questions or to provide possible solutions himself. He also fared very well in his oral assessments for my elective, and impressed me with his ability to convey complex and often abstract concepts in a very clear and engaging manner. This shows a confidence and analytical ability which leaves little doubt that he would perform successfully in legal practice.

On a personal level, Trevor makes a favourable impression. He is courteous, engaging and strikes me as a balanced, headstrong individual, and he maintains himself in a relaxed yet confident manner. I believe it is these characteristics that would make him suitable not only for work in legal practice, but for any other career in which he wishes and is able to utilise his particular set of skills.
